News & Notes

This past week we had many fun events. It started off with a fantastic band concert. Once again our students showcased themselves beautifully—and-- I never knew how handsome our students are with mustaches!!? On Wednesday, we went to see 'The Music Man' in which 4 of our alumni were actors/actresses. We also were blessed to have Timothy Botts talk to us and at the same time produce a beautiful piece of art. I am not sure where we will put the art work but do try to find it. It is beautiful!

This week's theme will be standardized testing. It is planned that at least the first two periods of the day will be committed to testing. As always be sure your child comes to school on time, is well rested and fed. Number 2 pencils will be needed. All this allows your child to perform at his/her best.

Thank you for another great 7th grade pizza lunch. You have all been great to work with. We only have two left—which means Turkey Run is just around the corner. Soon you will start seeing information coming home about this field trip. I am not sure how many parent volunteers we will need but if anyone is interested in going, please email me and I will put you on the list.

We wish the best for our scientists as they face regionals this weekend. Their hard work and extra effort is to be commended!!

God's blessings on your week.
